

Caring for Climate

November, 2015

Dear Mr. Miles George,

We wish to thank you and to recognize your vision and leadership in endorsing the Caring for Climate initiative. In addition to your valuable participation to the UN Global Compact, Infigen Energy is now part of the largest global business movement to address climate change, endorsed by over 400 companies from 60 countries.

The climate change crisis has risen to the top of the international agenda with growing public concern. Companies, local governments and countries have already recognized and are capitalizing on the benefits of moving towards low carbon, climate resilient and green economy pathways. With Caring for Climate, the UN Global Compact, the UN Environment Programme (UNEP) and the secretariat of the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) seek to (i) mobilize businesses on a global scale to take a stand for a low-carbon and climate resilient economy through their processes, products and services; as well as (ii) inform the climate change global policy agenda in order to contribute to progress in the intergovernmental climate change process.

Caring for Climate offers ongoing engagement opportunities for signatories, in particular through events, publications and collaborative action platforms. Further information on upcoming engagement opportunities can be found on the initiative's website at www.caringforclimate.org.

We welcome Infigen Energy to the Caring for Climate initiative and look forward to working with you.

Sincerely,

Handwritten signature of Lise Kingo in black ink.

Lise Kingo
Executive Director
UN Global Compact Office

Handwritten signature of Christiana Figueres in black ink.

Christiana Figueres
Executive Secretary
UN Framework on Climate Change

Handwritten signature of Ligia Noronha in blue ink.

Ligia Noronha
Director
UNEP DTIE

Miles George
Chief Executive Officer
Infigen Energy